Around the Bay and St. Joe's

A Winning Team!

On Sunday, April 3rd, the excitement of the 122nd Around the Bay Road Race fuelled runners, walkers and spectators all taking part in North America's oldest road race and fundraising in support of St. Joseph's Healthcare Hamilton.

Whether running the historic 30k, running or walking in the newer 5k event, participating with a relay team or fundraising, the spirit of Team St. Joe's was remarkable!

This year's Bay Race raised a record $485,149 for our Hospital and the health of the community we're honoured to serve. And, once again this year, Team St. Joe's rose to the challenge with over 250 staff on 18 teams helping to raise an incredible $120,000!

In fact, many St. Joe's teams raised more than $10,000 each so they will be eligible to have funds directed back to an approved research project within their own department. Packers' Trackers, Team FIRH, Team HREI and Team ICU all surpassed the $10,000 goal.

Through the 12-year partnership between the Bay Race and St. Joe's, more than $2.8 million has been raised for our Hospital. These funds have allowed the purchase of vital equipment like fetal heart monitors for the tiniest patients entrusted to our care, and patient comfort items such as warming blankets for dialysis patients.

The funds have also supported research into mental health and addiction, and diseases of the lung, chest and kidneys, to name just a few. We're making discoveries today that will impact healthcare tomorrow.

Helping foster a culture of organ and tissue donation at St. Joe's

St. Joseph's Healthcare Hamilton's very own Dr. Mark Soth is one of 50 Hospital Donation Physicians (HDPs) working to support organ and tissue donation within hospitals across Ontario. Trillium Gift of Life Network (TGLN), Ontario's organ and tissue donation and transplant agency, recently announced that HDPs are available to staff to provide educational support and share expertise.

Following closely the example set by successful international programs, this is the second phase of a plan to create an integrated network of physicians, both within and external to the hospital. Physician engagement is credited with improving donation rates by encouraging a culture of donation within hospitals.

There are 1,600 people in Ontario waiting for a lifesaving organ transplant, but the reality is, the opportunity for donation is quite rare. Dr. Soth will work with the existing donation team to ensure that when donation is a possibility, families have the knowledge and opportunity to make a lifesaving choice.

The shift to a more integrated network of donation physicians, to provide educational support and share expertise, has already increased the number of potential donors referred to TGLN. One donor can save up to eight lives and improve the lives of up to 75 others through tissue donation.

Along with his role as Chief of the Department of Critical Care where he works as a staff intensivist, Dr. Soth is the physician lead and Co-Chair of the TGLN Steering Committee at St. Joe's, alongside Co-Chair, Jackie Barrett, Director, Clinical Services. ●

Patient Comfort & Kindness Grants are Back!

Would a little extra support for items like pillows, blankets, or magazine subscriptions make a big difference to the patients cared for in your department? The Foundation is here to help with a new round of Patient Comfort & Kindness Grants!

From April 15th – May 15th, you can apply for funding that will enable your department to purchase those smaller patient comfort items that often have the biggest impact of all.

Grants can range from as little as your department needs to a maximum of $5,000. The grant request must demonstrate an ability to directly enhance the comfort and care of patients at St. Joe's and should be used for projects or items that simply cannot be covered by operational funding. Grants should also have the ability to impact multiple patients at our Hospital.

Last November, the Foundation provided grants to six departments thanks to the generous support of our donor community. From fleece blankets for dialysis patients to a special sleeper chair for visitors who are spending the night at our Hospital, the grants are already having an incredible impact on the patients we serve! ●

Here's what some of our recipients and patients had to say:

"The sleeper chair has not only allowed me to stay overnight at the Hospital comfortably, it's brought happiness to my wife while she's been ill. Thank you!" - Husband of patient in the Medical Stepdown Unit

"Thanks to the specialized sling we bought for our mechanical lift, one of our patients was able to safely stand for the first time in four weeks!" - Social Worker

Budding St. Joseph's Researcher Publishes Work on Probiotics & Mental Health

After completing her PhD in clinical psychology at Ryerson University in 2014, Dr. Matilda Nowakowski began to work as a post-doctoral fellow at the Anxiety Treatment and Research Clinic at St. Joseph's Healthcare Hamilton. She was awarded the TD Grant in Medical Excellence Postdoctoral Fellowship and the Professional Advisory Council Health Professional Research Award to examine the role of the gut microbiome in irritable bowel syndrome and mental health.

Dr. Nowakowski has recently published a review paper funded by these grants that translates research conducted on gut bacteria by microbiologists and immunologists to a mental health audience. The paper was published in Canadian Psychology and may lead to innovative, new treatments for mental health conditions.

"There is increasing research evidence in microbiology and immunology that the gut microbiome can influence behaviour and brain functioning. This is an area that is not often focused on by mental health professionals," explains Dr. Nowakowski. "This review paper helps to explain how these complex, scientific concepts are relevant to the study and treatment of mental illness."

The paper notes that while plenty of animal studies have confirmed the effects of the gut microbiome on the brain, more clinical studies are needed in order to better understand how this research can be applied to patients and can potentially be use in the treatment of mental disorders.

By successfully translating this knowledge from one area of expertise to another, Dr. Nowakowski's research helps to eliminate silos in the complex environment of health research. Fostering an environment of collaboration across disciplines helps researchers and other medical professionals to draw upon each other's work to advance patient care.

Dr. Nowakowski now works as a clinical psychologist at the Pain Clinic (King Campus) and the Anxiety Treatment and Research Clinic (West 5th Campus) at St. Joseph's Healthcare Hamilton and holds an appointment as an Assistant Clinical Professor (Part-Time) with the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioural Neurosciences at McMaster University.

She hopes to continue her research focused on the integration of psychological treatments into medical settings by evaluating the effectiveness and mechanisms of psychological approaches to the management of chronic pain. ●

Wellness Story of the Month Recommit to Fit

“ Just a little farther! Just a little faster! You can do it! The Run/Walk group is an awesome way to meet new friends, improve your running speed and distance, and push your limits.

I started off with our Run/Walk group in 2011 from a mere 5km race and worked up to The Road to Hope full marathon. My challenge to you is to come out and run with us, enjoy some fresh air and meet new people!

You never know – a full marathon could also be in your running future.”

sneak it in

How well can you sneak Wellness into your workday?

From April 6th to May 6th, staff, learners, physicians, and volunteers participated in Employee Wellness' Sneak It In Challenge. Sneak It In encouraged individuals to engage in both informal and formal self-care activities during the workday.

These activities included listening to a Mindfulness meditation on MyStJoes, attending a Wellness class, running with the Walk/Run group, or taking a stretch break with the goal of enhancing well-being and improving health behaviours. ●

Two Senior Nephrology Techs volunteer vacation hours for a life-changing trip to Guyana

Prevalence of renal disease is very high in Guyana and there is not a single nephrologist currently working in the country. For those individuals with end stage renal disease, dialysis is their only option and most cannot afford the treatment. Without dialysis, patients die.

Through the Division of Nephrology at McMaster University, St. Joseph's Nephrologists have been supporting The Doobay Medical Centre, a not-for-profit Dialysis Clinic, in Guyana since it opened two years ago. The increasing demand for hemodialysis treatment in the country surpassed the clinic's original capacity initiating the need to expand the space and get more equipment. St. Joseph's Healthcare Hamilton supported the project through the donation of decommissioned dialysis machines that are used to train and treat.

Two Senior Nephrology Technologists at St. Joseph's volunteered their vacation time to support the clinic in person.

 - The Doobay Medical Centre, Guyana

Carl Haynes has been with St. Joe's for 17 years and Alex Prine, 10 years, travelled to Guyana together for 10 days to visit the clinic, install the donated dialysis machines, and provide operational instructions to the local nursing staff.

"They were very eager to learn and excited for the new equipment," said Carl, "and provide first class service with minimal equipment." There are currently no trained technologists at the Doobay Medical Centre and Alex, who has been a Senior Tech for four years says, "We were able to resolve some outstanding issues [outside of setting up equipment] which was a big bonus."

St. Joseph's Health System supports the clinic so they can provide dialysis, regardless of the patient's ability to pay, "They work really hard to provide services to those with limited access" explained Alex. When asked about their next visit, both Carl and Alex said, "I can't wait to go back – it was a very rewarding experience!" ●

 - Carl Haynes treats the Clinic's first Dialysis patient

 - Karen B. loves volunteering at The Book Nook, West 5th Campus

St. Joe's volunteer is forever grateful

Karen B. has been volunteering at the West 5th Campus' 'The Book Nook' which she describes as, "a very relaxed environment where patients can take out books, magazines, CDs and DVDs, but most importantly where they can come visit and talk, and we listen to offer them support where we can."

Identifying herself as someone with lived experience, Karen began her journey with St. Joseph's many years ago as a patient. "It is a magical place and I had to give back." She joined the volunteer team two years ago and says, "Volunteer Resources treats you with so much respect and make you feel important; you're not just a volunteer you're staff."

Karen also volunteers with the Burlington Performing Art Centre but believes that there's "a spiritual quality" to volunteering at St. Joe's explaining that, "some patients don't have family or friends to come visit them, and we become somebody special to them."

Always ready to greet you with a smile, Karen plans on continuing with her commitment to St. Joe's saying, "I very much look forward to my volunteer days at the West 5th Campus...it keeps me grounded and I'm forever thankful." ●
